To Whom It May Concern:

In 2010 during my tenure as manager of TVA's Knoxville GIS staff Sean M. Baskin served as an intern with our team. Sean's knowledge of the underlying geographic information systems technology, particularly in the area of web mapping tools, was an important addition to the skill set for our staff. In addition his enthusiasm, initiative, and excellent interpersonal/communication skills were all valuable assets in our organization.

I believe that Mr. Baskin is an excellent candidate for graduate level training in geospatial technologies and that he has a promising future within the geospatial industry.
